Tariff Legislation That Should Be Made Lan So as to Bring the Islands Into Closer Touch With Us-Railroad Development Also Is a Crying Need.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 13 .- This was Philippine Day at the world's fair, and it proved ne of the most successful special days that has been celebrated since the exposition opened. The celebration opened with a military parade at 10:30 A. M., following which there were special exercises on the parade grounds of the Philippine exposition. Afterward the Government officials who were present, numbering two score or more, headed by Secretary Taft, visited the several native villages on the grounds and met the chiefs.

At the exercises in the morning Dr. William P. Wilson, chairman of the Philippine exposition board, presided, and after few introductory remarks introduced Brig.-Gen. Irving Hale, who made a much applauded address on behalf of the National applauded address on behalf of the National Society of the Army of the Philippines. President Francis of the exposition, Thomas H. Carter, president of the national commission, Benito Legardo, president of the honorary board of Filireno commissioners and Secretary of War Taft were the other modelers.

Secretary Taft said in his address Secretary Tart said in his address:

MR. CHAIRMAN, MY FILIPINO FELLOW COUNTRYMEN OF THE HONORARY COMMISSION, AND LADLES AND GENTLEMEN: It is a source of infinite satisfaction for me to look about over the forty acres that embrace this Philippine simility and to think of the immense good it has done and will do in making the people of the United States acquainted with the Philippine Islands, and making the people of the Philippine Islands acquainted with the United States.

of the United States acquainted with the Fhilippine Islands, and making the people of the Philippine Islands acquainted with the United States.

Here is shown scientifically all that could be shown in an exhibit of the agricultural, mineral and horticultural resources of those vasily rich islands—the pearls of the Pacific. Here is shown in ethnological gradation the peoples that inhabit those islands, from the Negritos, who were the abortgines and represent possibly the lowest form of humanity anywhere, through the Moros and the Igorrotes until finally we come to the Christian Filipinos, who show their capacity for education and drill and civilization in the beautiful evolutions of the constabulary companies and the scout battalion, and show their artistic taste in the melodies that come from the constabulary band.

Here we have a living example of the education of the Filipino, the teaching that is going on in every town in the island; here we have the 100 students sent to the United States to learn Finglish and to learn our institutions; here we have and are now honored by the presence of fifty of the honorary commissioners of the Philippine Islands who were gent over by the Government of the Philippine Islands that they might receive the hospitality of their American fellow countrymen, and who have proceeded from San Francisco to Rosson, overwhelmed almost by the cordality and hospitality of the best American people in all the large cities.

This exposition has cost much money, more considerably than was projected when the bill was passed authorizing it to be made. The Fhilippine Ireasury has many calls upon it and the revenues have fallen off because of the commercial distress in the islands, and yet with all that, I feel that the money which has here been expended will inure many fold to the benefit of the Philippine Islands in the invitation which is here presented to American enterprise and America's good will to aid the Filipino people in their struggle onward and ubward to a higher and more progressive that are absolutely necessary to the develop-ment of those islands, which are absolutely necessary to the elevation of the people and their education. If one will examine the statistics of the mileage of railways in the various colonies of the world he will see how restricted communication in the Philippines must be as compared with colonies that have not near so many people.

not near ss much wealth producing capacity and not near so many people.

The railway mileage in Algeria, which has an area of about one-third more than the Philippines and a population of more than a third less, is 1,895 miles, against 120 miles in the Philippine Islands. In New Zealand, which has a population of about one-ninth of that of the Philippines, and an area about as much, there are 2,404 miles of railway as compared with 120 in the Philippines. In the Island of Tasmania, which has a population of about three-hundredths of that of the Philippine Islands and an area of about one-fifth of those islands, there are six times as many miles of railway as there are in the Philippines.

In all the colonies—Algeria, IndocChina

In all the colonies—Algeria, Indo-China, India, Java, Madagascar, Straits Stetlements, New Zealand, New South Wales, Victoria, Queensiand, South Australia, West Australia, and Tasmania, the railways have either been constructed by the Government or the Government has assisted in their construction by guaranteeing the income on the investment. If experience can teach anything from this statement, it is that we may not look for the construction of railways in the Philippines except through Governmental through Governmental Philippines except through Governmental construction or aid.

The bill which has passed the House of Representatives authorizes the Philippine Government, through the Commission, to guarantee the income, not exceeding 5 per centum on the amount actually invested in any railway, for thirty years, but also stipulates that provision must be made in the contract of guaranty by which there shall be secured to the Government ultimately stipulates that provision must be made in the contract of guaranty by which there shall be secured to the Government ultimately the repayment of all the money paid under the guaranty. Should the Philippine Islands be transferred to another Government, this obligation could, of course, by the terms of the charter, be imposed on the new Government, and does not implicate or bind the United States in any way beyond the time when its relation to the Philippine Government shall cease.

Secondly, the Philippine Islands need and will secure from Congress legislation which shall bring the Philippine market within the tariff wall and enable the Philippine farmers to sell in the rich market of the United States the products of their far distantislands. Thirdly, we need the authority to amend the tariff laws now in force in the Philippine Islands so that the lessons of experience in the actual operation of the tariff may be taken advantage of, and the changes made therein which shall admit to the islands, without the burden of tariff, those particular articles needed especially in building up the country.

without the burden of tariff, those particular articles needed especially in building up the country.

Recommendations have been made by a committee appointed by the Government in the Philippine Islands, which did not reach this country in time to bring them before Congress at its last session, but it will be the duty of the Government to present the recommendations of the commission and the report of the committee at the session which is to come. We so much depend for the future of the Philippine Islands upon the views of the American people that there cannot be any doubt of the wisdom of the expenditure of a large sum of money such as is here invested in presenting to the American people the exact situation in the islands as far as that can be done by exhibits of this character.

I congratulate Prof. Wilson, Mr. Niederlein and Señor Paterno on the excellence of this exhibit. I congratulate Col. Edwards, upon whose shoulders has fallen so much of the responsibility for its financial management and arrangement. I congratulate the whole corps of earnest, hard working assistants, upon their work which shows for itself. To the Honorary Filipino Commission I have only tessy that I congratulate them on the fine impression they have made in this country and the assurance they have given to the American people of the possibilities of the development of the whole Christian Filipino people.

If they take home with them the conscioushes of the feeling of affectionate interest which the American people have toward them and their islands; if they have breathed in the spirit of American institutions from what they have seen here; if they shall remember with pleasure and pride the hospitable reception which has been theirs, the purpose of the commission in sending them here will have been accomplished. I extend to them my earnest wishes for their future happiness and prosperity.

WHO KILLED POOR PUSSY?

Not I," Says Mrs. Haggerty, in Blue, While Mrs. Marshall Frowns in Black. Mrs. Ada Haggerty of 162 West Twenty sixth street was arraigned in Jefferson Market police court yesterday on the charge of throwing a cat out of a third story window. The complainant was Mrs. Florence Marshall, who says she witnessed the act from her window across the street. at 177 West Twenty-sixth street.

Mrs. Marshall, a woman of middle age, was dressed in severe black. She mounted the bridge, frowning upon the prisoner, who shuddered at the bar in pale blue. Policeman John Foley stood between. "I wish it had been one of the fifty cats on my block that she killed," sighed Foley.

Mrs. Marshall heard him "Give me your name and address," she said, "and I will see that the society brings the creatures to a peaceful end. It was the cruel way she did it, not the decease of the animal that aroused my indigna tion. "Thank you kindly, ma'am," said Foley. Mrs. Marshall then explained to Magistrate Ommen that the cat was an extraordinarily fine one, weighing as much as a Christmas turkey.

"I had her carried to my apartments and witnessed her death in terrible agony," declared the complainant.

Mrs. Haggerty said in her defence:
"I never saw the cat and know nothing about its death. It is all a mistake. I do not know this lady." Magistrate Ommen told all hands to bring witnesses to court Monday, and paroled Mrs. Haggerty.

KILLED WOMAN AND HIMSELF.

FARMHAND STABS EMPLOYER'S WIFE AND TAKES POISON.

The Pair Had Taken a Room in Boston and Quarrelled Over Money Matters -The Man Used a Knife Fatally and Goes Home and Commits Suicide.

Boston, Aug. 13.—William E. Clark, aged 53, who is believed to have murdered Mrs. Ada Richardson, the wife of John R. Richardson of Methuen, a former employer by stabbing her while at a lodging house on West Newton street, this city, at 3 o'clock this morning, died at the Lawrence Hospital early to-night from the effects of poison swallowed with suicidal intent. The man also had some knife wounds, but these were not sufficient to cause death.

Clark had been working for Richardson for some time and about five weeks ago Richardson made up his mind that the relations between Clark and his wife were not what they should be, so he discharged the man and told his wife to leave his home. Clark and the woman were seen later at Lawrence, where it is believed they have been living. Richardson gave his wife $400 on condi-

WOMEN GOT WRECKERS PAY. Andrews of Staten Island Buys Drinks

-Cost $290, and He's a Deputy Sheriff. Charles N. Andrews of Stapleton, Staten Island, a Deputy Sheriff of Richmond county and superintendent of the Chapman-Merritt Wrecking Company, was robbed of a roll of bills containing $290 last night by two women in a saloon at Eighth avenue and 123d street. The money was to be used in paying off some of the men of the company on Staten Island.

Andrews came to the city and was on his way to 126th street and Seventh avenue to visit some friends. He got off the ele vated train at 125th street and Eighth ave nue, and when he reached the street he met the women, who asked him to "treat." Andrews said he first went to a saloon on 125th street, and then the two women said they knew a better place at 123d street and Eighth avenue. He went with them and they sat in the rear room of the saloon, where several drinks were served. He carried the $290 in the hip pocket of his trousers.

The money was under the rubber band The money was under the rubber band of his pocketbook, which had $70 of his own money. While he was talking to the women one of them leaned over and placed her arm around his waist. He did not think anything of it at the time, but five minutes later, when both women left the place, he missed the money. He came out in time to see the two board a southbound Eighth around aloctric car.

John Farrell, who is a bartender in the Subway Tavern, came along and saw the women trying to get away. He thought that something was wrong and asked the Deputy Sheriff if anything had happened. He said he had been robbed and the two women who had gone down on the car a few minutes before had his money. Farrell and Andrews got into a cab at 125th streetand Eighth avenue and gave chase as far as 110th street, where they overtook the car, but the two women were not on it.

Andrews then went to the West 125th street station and reported his loss. He said he would not care so much about the loss if the money had been his own. It belonged to the word in the money had been his own. to the money had been his own. It belonged to the wrecking company, and the men were waiting for their wages. FIFTY TONS CREEP DOWN TOWN. NO DIVORCE FOR DIEDERICHS. Multipolar Generator Behind 22 Horses

Makes Broadway Dead Slow. A 30,000 pound truck carrying an armature weighing 70,800 pounds reduced Broadway street car men to profanity about 10 o'clock last night. It took twenty-two horses to draw the huge truck and eighteen men to handle the horses. As the truck slowly took its way down Broadway from Thirtieth street to Duane street, fifty or more trolley cars loafed behind it. The conductors and motormen, rendered frantic by the apparent inability of the truckmen to get off the tracks, appealed to the police, but the street was so badly torn up in places that the truck had to stick to the tracks.

to-day by the Secretary of the Treasury. The overland expedition was organized from officers of the revenue cutter Bear to go to Point Barrow, in the Arctic Ocean, to relieve the officers and men of whaling vessels which were believed to be icebound Several hundred men were in danger of starvation. The expedition travelled more than 1,600 miles over a barren waste of snows with dog teams, encountering frequent blizzards and enduring hardships incident to an Arctic winter. For more than half of the distance a large herd of reindeer were driven, and, as it turned out, these animals furnished the food which saved the lives of a large number of men. NO POLITICS IN IT, SAYS GAINES. Tennessee Congressman in Washington to Continue His Tobacco Trust Crusade. WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.-John Wesley Gaines, Representative in Congress from Tennessee, has come to town with his trustbusting crusade against the Tobacco Trust, of which echoes had reached the capital. Mr. Gaines denied indignantly to-day that there was any political motive in his campaign; but he did not explain what he has been telling people down South, that he tried to get the Department of Justice to prosecute the Tobacco Trust and found the Department unwilling to do so. The American Tobacco Company, Mr. Gaines declared, has stifled the competition that existed in the purchase of black tobacco in Kentucky and Tennessee.

"An attempt has been made to show that my course in endeavoring to have the law enforced against this trust is prompted by political reasons," said Mr. Gaines. "There are no such reasons, so far as I am concerned. Our effort is solely to secure relief that we are entitled to under the law against the exactions of this trust."

NO ONE HEARD FATAL SHOT. Bullet in Little Mary Kozlowsky's Brain

-A Two Weeks Old Mystery. Mary Kozlowsky, 6 years old, daughter of a tailor living at 78 Pike street, died yesterday in St. Francis Hospital from a bullet wound in the head, and the police of the Madison street station are searching for the person who fired the shot. The girl received the wound on a Sunday afternoon two weeks ago while playing on Cherry street near Pike, but no one can be found who heard a shot fired and the exact nature of her injuries was not known until revealed by the autopsy yesterday afternoon.

Detectives Johnston and Rooney of the Detectives Johnston and Robney of the Madison street police station made a thorough investigation of the case at the time. All they could find was that several children said Mary Kozlowsky was chasing Nancy Ross, 12 years old, of 78 Pike street, when she fell on the sidewalk.

William Malone, a watchman at Hecker's flour place on Cherry street, saw the girl fall, but heard no shot fired. She was taken into a neighboring drug store and the Gouverneur Hospital ambulance was called. Dr. Henderson said it looked like called. Dr. Henderson said it looked like an ordinary scalp wound, but he could not be certain until the child was taken to the hospital. The girl's mother refused to have her taken to the hospital, and she was taken home.

Dr. Kerr of 74 Market street was called in and diagnosed the injury as a gunshot wound. Dr. Himowich of 130 Henry street said it was no gunshot wound, but a mer scalp wound.

The next day the child was taken to St.
Francis's Hospital, where she died. At the autopsy yesterday a bullet was found lodged in the brain.

Unification of Vanderbilt Line Treasuries. The committee of the New York Central officials which has been at work on a plan for the unification of the financial departments of the Eastern and Western divisions of the road has practically completed its work, and the consolidation of the treasury departments of the forty different lines in the system is expected to result in great economy. The handling of receipts and disbursements of all the Vanderbilt lines west of Buffalo rests now with Charles F. Cox, treasurer of the Lake Shore road with offices in this city, and similarly the finances of the lines east of Buffalo are under the control of Mr. Rossiter, son of First Vice-President E. V. W. Rossiter, who, in turn, is in charge of the finances of the entire system. The saving in salarios under this method is expected to be between $55,000 and $55,0 tween $50,000 and $75,000. Receivers for the Diamond Steel Co. WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 13.-Judge Brad-WILMINOTON, Del., Aug. 13.—Judge Bradford, in the United States District Court this morning appointed Howard Wallaces president of the comporation, and James P. Winchester, president of the First National Bank of this city, temporary receivers of the Diamond Steel Company, pending the determination of the application for a trustee in bankruptcy. Bonds were required in the sum of $200,000.
